Continuous Radon Monitors

If the applicant issues a radon measurement report directly to a client and not through an NRSB accredited laboratory, attach an example of a report issued. Radon measurement reports require specific elements. Information regarding radon measurement reports can be found in Section 4.7 in this document (EPA 402-R-92-003): https://archive.epa.gov/epa/sites/production/files/2014-08/documents/homes_protocols.pdf

For renewal applications, you are not required to complete a proficiency test unless you are using a different model than the previous years.

For measurement services made with continuous radon monitors, attach a current certificate of calibration for every continuous radon monitor used to perform measurements. A certificate of calibration must be issued by an NRSB Accredited Radon Chamber that is authorized by the manufacturer to perform calibration for the instrument model.

Electret Ion Chambers

For renewal applications, you may submit the results of blind spiking tests (comprising at least five detectors in total, conducted within the applicant's last NRSB certification period, and compliant with 9.1.4 of the Radon Chamber Accreditation Policy (<https://www.nrsb.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/01/ChamberAccredPolicy.pdf>) in lieu of a repeated proficiency test. This can be completed by an NRSB accredited tertiary chamber or secondary chamber.

For measurement services made with an electret ion chamber, attach a current certificate of calibration for every electret voltage reader used to perform measurements. A certificate of calibration must be issued by an NRSB Accredited Radon Chamber that is authorized by the manufacturer to perform calibration for the instrument model.

Code of Ethics for Radon Professionals

The following Code of Ethics serves as an agreement with radon professionals who possess a current NRSB certification. The established rules are necessary to protect the life, health, property and welfare of the public, and to maintain the credibility of the certification program. Accordingly, each NRSB certificate holder agrees to retain full responsibility and liability for their actions and agree to comply with the following Code of Ethics. Violation of this Code of Ethics or failure to abide by the requirements described herein might be cause for discontinuing certification.

Responsibility: Protect the safety, health and welfare of the public, by performing all certified activities in accordance with properly established and approved procedures and standards adopted by the National Radon Safety Board.
